VIRGINIA CLAMPS
THE LID DOWN

The fellow who sells liquor now must be pretty hard-boiled, a traditional tough guy, who does not mind flirting with a long term on the road-or snapping his fingers in the face of the penitentiary itself.

Bootleggers no longer face the probability of spending thirty days vacation in jail, when a jury finds them guilty, but they face the certainty of working on the roads for three solid months or longer. Judges cannot, under the new law suspend such sentences imposed by juries. The prisoner at the bar must contribute his share of labor in building up the State highways.

The prohibition law as it stands now has all sorts of teeth in it and they do not need whetting. It carries into effect the determination of the people of Virginia to enforce their views as to the liquor traffic.—Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch.

DESTINIES OF A COMMUNITY IN HANDS OF ITS CITIZENS

Long ago, longer ago in some communities than in others, the need was made apparent of some organization of the people to educate and crystallize public opinion, and to translate same thought into some community action.

No longer satisfied to stand on the side lines while a few played the game of community advance for them, people are today everywhere insisting on guiding their own destinies, and shaping their own future. In every city of consequence one find civic bodies dedicated to the task of promoting the general welfare, all products of what has been called the "community urge." They are organized groups of men and women, non-partisan, non-sectarian, having for their object the improvement of business and living conditions. And governmental agencies, slow to act and hampered by legal restrictions, are being outmaneuvered by organizations of the people that do not have to wait for elections, and that are not limited by formalities of any kind.

Is there anything Middlesboro more needs than such an organization of her citizens? We have organized for politics, religion, education, and various other things. Has not the time come to organize for the town as a whole, to perfect a chamber of commerce, or call it by some other name, to which any man or woman may belong, and which will have no interest except that of making Middles-boro great in all modern municipal conveniences and comfort, and in everything that counts for human prosperity, security and happiness? Can this city successfully compete with the hundreds of other organized communities, many of them highly so, without such an aggressive agency to promote her interests?

INTER-ALLIED
CONFERENCE

The Inter-Allied conference for making effective the Dawes plan for German reparations opened in London yesterday with Premier MacDonald of England and Heriot of France as the principal actors in the drama of diplomacy. The United States is represented by Frank B. Kellogg, the American ambassador as official observer.

While European statesmen are optimistic as to the outcome of the conference, there is little in the attitude of France to bring hope to the American heart, that it will be a success along the lines recommended by Dawes and McKenna.

Germany has accepted the terms of the Dawes plan which amounts to nothing else than new deal all around.
The French attitude is nothing new and has stood in the way of a complete settlement from the first. Herriot will maintain Reparation Commission as the only authority on questions touching the fulfillment of the eight part of the treaty and that the Commission must not be superseded in the event of German default.

The English compromise will be that an American be added to the Reparation Commission which will probably be accepted by France. This would mean that America must should the entire responsibility of the decisions made. The crux of the matter lies in the French demand for independent action in the eventuality of further German default. Herriot is ruled by the French Senate, which by the events of the past few weeks have shown is dominated by Raymond Poincare. The inflexible attitude of the Poincare ministry in the past has blocked every attempt of the English to arrive at a satisfactory agreement between Germany and France and its continued sway of the Herriot government, after its repudiation by the French people, is the worst feature of the entire affair.

Germany has always been one of our big users of food products, and the slow rehabilitation of German industry and finance is playing no small part in the post-war condition of agricultural markets in the United States. While accepting a vote on the Commission, is a step that should be carefully considered, one thing is certain. France should be informed by the admission treaty in no uncertain terms that the Dawes plan should be followed without any limitations on its part. McDonaugh doubtless would stand behind any American action along these lines. The time has come for the Administration to take a firm stand for the Dawes-McKenna plan and take it in a way that France will fully understand that a further delay in French agreement will rest solely on her shoulders and in this delay France stands alone.

Now that the price of lemons has declined and this means that we'll be handed more of them than usual when congress convenes.

Now that they have placed Mr. Albert B. Fall under $5,000 bonds, he still has nothing to say and we suppose under the circumstances there's not very much to say.

As the advent of prohibition has greatly reduced the ranks of the Amalgamated Association of Washer-Women we are wiring our friend Al Smith to ask him to put this fact in the labor section of the New York democratic platform next time.

Our beauty editor states that tiny brown moles are not disfiguring, as they serve to bring out the cleanness of the skin merely by way of contrast in color and we suppose the general effect of this announcement will be to make 'em roll them a little lower.

We don't suppose that the police give a hang if General Smedley D.
Butler keeps his job as head of the police force of Philadelphia or goes for as the town has several thousand policemen it has been impossible for him to keep even a small part of them awake half of the time.

What we call a low down, stand pat republican trick is one where a bunch of republican Indiana editors invite another bunch of mixed, mostly democrat, Kentucky editors to a little feed on a hot day and then for three mortal hours tell them to "Keep Cool with Coolidge."

After careful research covering forty-eight states and a number of island possessions, our office expert states that the reports show very convincingly that nearly all, if not all girls between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five, read The Dial and Saturday Review very closely and that none of them would even be caught in the same newspaper with a copy of Snappy Stories or Hot Dog.

Chief of Police Grant of Cleveland, will not be a guest of the little party we are giving down at the Hotel Cim-berland for our progressive friends, George Brennan and Jimmie Cox but says that there were only twenty-seven arrests for intoxication in Cleveland during the republican convention which, if true, would be mighty good evidence for even a convention of progressive democrats.

We were very much surprised yesterday to receive a letter that John Miller very kindly placed in our mail box from a man who says he is not a press agent and offers to show proof by many and sundry persons, firms and corporations that he is not a press agent. We took the matter up with our minister who has high moral acumen on such matter and after reading the letter, he, our minister cocked his eye up at the zenith and observed, "Ha! He," the man, "protesteth over much," and then pointed to nadir.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

(By Harry B. Hunt)

WASHINGTON, July 17. Washington's I remember-when brigade, which always seeks to compare each new political circumstance with some previous similar situation preferably to take advantage of the newest level-upment finds itself stumped in seeking an occasion when more "fuss and feud" was made over the presentation of the name of a candidate for president than that which attended Franklin Roosevelt's speech at New York nominating Gov. Al Smith.

After much scratching of heads and comparing of recollections, it is agreed that the demonstration most nearly approaching those staged for McAdoo and Smith, at the recent Democratic battle royal, was that accorded the presentation of Theodore Roosevelt's name in 1901.

Next to that, and running third to the recent records, was the hubbalooboo accompanying Bryan's second nomination at Kansas City in 1900, when the issue was imperialism.

The custom of "demonstrations" at political conventions, partly sages agree originated back in 1892. It was the Republicans who started it, although the Democrats have just carried it to the ultimate of frenzied absurdity.

At the Minneapolis convention of the D. R. P. in that year, a delegate from Colorado in nominating James H.
Blaine, by the sheer moving force of his oratory, touched off a demonstration that lasted for some 15 minutes.
It was unpremeditated, unorganized, spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm without parallel in political history.

But even this first demonstration didn't nominate the man whom it honored. Blaine got the demonstration Benjamin Harrison got the nomination.

The Bryan demonstration of 1900 gave evidence of attempts to improve on nature. Simple enthusiasm, certainly leaders believed, was not enough.
They would add to it, by artificial expedients, which they did.

For the first ten minutes the applause and jubilation was sincere and honest enough. After that it became a manufactured product which was continued through another 15 minutes.
This record of 25 minutes was acknowledged as proving the country's fervent opposition to the imperialistic program of the Republicans.

Again the Democrats had the big demonstration. The Republicans carried the election.

The demonstration here, however, initiated the D. R. P. proceedings at Chicago in 1901 and the Roosevelt backers set out definitely to outdo by at least five minutes the Democratic bandwaggon of 1900. It was put through on schedule and maintained for exactly the desired 30 minutes. But it was palpably forced throughout at least half that time. Even the persuasive personality of F. R. was unequal to the task of maintaining for that period a spontaneous crescendo of cheers and applause.

Political analysts, who have studied Democratic and Republican gatherings, say the Democrats are the more emotional and more easily stirred to genuine demonstrations. However, even the Democrats will admit that the record-breaking non-stop which attended the McAdoo-Smith contest at New York, one hour for McAdoo an hour and a quarter for Smith, were artificially stimulated. They may mark the decline of the "demonstration" as an effective factor in presidential nominations.

Speaker Tells Convention Today.

CREATES NEW WANT

Motor Corporation Executive Says Advertising Raises the Standards of Living Everywhere.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, July 16.—James D. Mooney, vice-president and director of General Motors Corporation in charge of Export Companies, told the convention of Associated Advertising Clubs of the World today that the building of industrial and commercial structures awaited leaders who would provide for workers sound economic programs that would hasten the day all had expected with peace.

"The tools are available and the laborer is ready to work," he said. "The need is for leaders, organizers, with mental and moral courage who will place the tools in the hands of the laborer, finance the laborer to the extent of providing him with tools and materials, and finance the exchange of the laborer's products. This leadership must come out of the ranks of such men as are represented here at this convention. The present day is the day of the industrial and commercial leader."

Mr. Mooney asserted advertising must be counted on to play a great part in reconstruction and rehabilitation, because it could be made so important a factor in distribution.

"The world today is standing in great need of having its distribution system re-created and re-invited," he said. "The production facilities, although somewhat impaired by the great stresses imposed upon the during the war, stand generally ready; men are eager to work. However, markets are needed for the products; means of facilitating their exchange are needed. The old channels of distribution through which goods flowed prior to the war are gradually being re-established and new channels, made necessary by new political conditions, are being constructed. Advertising can very effectively increase the rate of growth of these national and international distributive systems."

Mr. Mooney characterized the convention as a symbol of co-operation, an expression of the eagerness of the peoples of the world to work together.

Out of understanding and co-operation between nations, between political and commercial leaders and between capital and labor, will evolve the program of rehabilitation for which people are hungering," he declared.

LARGE PART STATE DEBT TO BE PAID

Governor Announces That $1,500,000 Will Be Lifted—Begin On Cash Basis.

Associated Press.

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 16.—About $1,500,000 dollars of state indebtedness will be lifted this summer, and the State Highway Commission at the same time will begin work on a cash paying basis. This was the outcome of an important conference in the governor's office this week.

Governor W. J. Fields, with unanimous concurrence of the conferees, will direct E. R. Dishman, State Treasurer, to call in for retirement about $1,500,000 in out-standing warrants for road construction. He ordered the call to be issued not later than August 15th.

"We have examined the tabular estimate, approved by the highway commission, and find that it shows there is due the state from the Federal government $1,790,788.55, and that there are funds pledged by various counties of the state for the use of the commonwealth and the highway commission in the construction of roads the sum of $2,135,965.50, or a total sum from these two sources of $3,926,754.05."

"This amount is available for use upon old road contracts that remained uncompleted July 1, 1924, and undoubtedly the highway commission can legally anticipate this sum of money for payment on these old contracts."

Tax Funds Are Due
There also is an ad valorem tax due the highway commission the sum of which we do not know, but it, too, may be anticipated and should be added to the above total. If there are any unpaid motor license taxes and gasoline taxes for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, this amount also should be used in anticipation and be added to the amounts above stated.

"If these amounts when added together are sufficient to consume the contracts made prior to July 1, 1924, then the highway commission has not exceeded its revenue for that fiscal year, and warrants should be issued so long as it stays within the revenue and the anticipated revenue of the highway commission for that fiscal year."

Projects Are Listed
The list completed and uncompleted projects, both Federal and state, by counties, showing amount pledged by the counties on each project, included: Daviess, P. C. A. 71, pledged $12,000; $12,219.15 paid; 25 per cent total cost P. C. A. 105 $8,457.17 pledged; $3,707.77 paid; $5,179 in due; P. A. 30, $63,181.31 pledged $38,675.31 paid.

The contractors who are building and performing work in the state of Kentucky have had considerable trouble during the last six months obtaining road warrants and disposing of them inasmuch as there was approximately $1,500,000 in old warrants being held by the bankers of these contractors. Mr. Dose, the Executive Secretary of the commission, said: "This condition existing was having a great deal of effect on the contractors, since during the last few weeks they were not even getting warrants for their monthly estimates, on account of the Court of Appeals' decision in the Billiter and Wiley case."

Fishes at 101, Is Not Considered An Invalid

Associated Press.

CLARKSON, Pa., July 17.—Clarion county assessors usually list men of advanced age as "invalids," but when William Kratzor, of St. Peterburg, aged 101, was granted a fishing license the assessor decided a change in the man's status was necessary. Kratzor is now listed as a "retired gentleman." The assessor ruled that a man of 101 years who could fish was not an invalid.

Economic forces must be allowed free play, he said, natural economic laws must be respected and no impediments should be placed in the way of their working out freely.

"The nation prospers best," he added, "that takes advantage of the laws rather than resists them. Prejudices very often obscure economic imagination and prevent accurate economic appraisal."

Alluding to the development of the motor car in the last 20 years as an important factor in economic and cultural progress, he said it had proved that what it added annually to the wealth of a nation was greater than its annual cost.

"Advertising has played a corresponding part in raising standards of living," he said. "It makes people want things. When they want things they go to work to get the money to pay for them."

Mr. Mooney urged the delegates to go forth with the ideal of helping to increase the comfort and happiness of millions of families.

"Let us dramatize the worker," he added. "Let us create an atmosphere about him and about the leader-worker that will insure them social advantage. Let us take such interest and such part in governmental and political affairs as will insure economic stability and progress."

Free Range Days Recalled By Quantity Branding Irons

Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, July 17.—Days when great herds of range cattle roamed over a 100 square miles of wild prairie west of the Missouri River in South Dakota, are still reflected in a list of more than 7,000 horse and cattle brands in custody of the state commission on brands and marks. The list continues to grow at the rate of ten to 15 a month.

The roll call of range trade marks was much longer prior to 1921, when legislative acts all brands and marks were abolished and a new series started. The earlier roster, dating back to 1890, contained 12,081 distinct brands.

The purpose of the cattle and horse brand has been modified with passing years, according to Noah Newlands,

ANNUAL FAIR IN MERCER COUNTY

Variety of Exhibitions Planned at Harrodsburg—Includes Live Stock.

HARRODSBURG, July 17.—The twenty-first annual exhibition of the Mercer County Fair to be held here July 29, 30, 31 and August 1 will be the greatest fair and horse show in Kentucky, Buford Van Arsdale, president, said today. The plans follow:

First day, Tuesday, July 29. Family products—Prizes will be offered for the best coconut cake and many other kinds of cakes, bread, beaten biscuits, ham, butter, pickles, honey, jelly, preserves, jam, sherbet, cream, wheat, rye, potatoes, apples, corn, tomatoes, onions, beets, cabbage, grapes, and other products.

Flowers, roses, gladioli, best hand bouquet, dahlias, zinnias, and others will come in for their share. The ladies will have a good old-fashioned, friendly contest over the best specimen of knitting, crochet, and statting, while children under 14 will vie with each other over the best made dress, crochet, knitting, cake, home-made candy, and best specimen of drawing, and hand embroidery.

The ladies will exhibit hand-made rugs, woven, cotton quilts, spreads, and crochet. Canning will have a part in the program.

Dairy cattle, bulls, cows, will be among the entries the men will pay attention to and beef cattle, hogs, Berkshires, durocs, fall and spring pigs, Shetland ponies, and horses will be plenty.

Second day, Wednesday, July 30: The Junior Agricultural Club will have charge over a junior beef, hog, and calf show. Five-gaited saddles, harnesses and harness horses will be exhibited, with a hurdle ring, and a sweepstake roadster ring for the best roadster mare. Poultry of all kinds, Plymouths, Jersey Black Giants, White Wyandottes, bantams, will be in the show and pea fowls, turkeys, ducks, guineas, geese, pigeons, rabbits, and foxhounds.

Third day, Thursday, July 31: Southdown sheep, Hampshires, Shropshires, mules, and horses hold attention.

Fourth day, Friday, August 1: All attention will center on horses, the best draft mare, stallion, gelding, team, three-gaited walk-trot mare or gelding, the best fancy turnout, the best lady rider, with saddle sweepstake.

RHOADS URGING BETTER SCHOOLS

Says State-Wide Campaign Should Be Inaugurated to Better Conditions.

FRANKFORT, July 17.—A better schools campaign in all counties of the state was advocated by McHenry Rhoads, superintendent of public instruction, yesterday.

"A county-wide school publicity campaign should be promoted," he said. "Such a campaign under the direction of the county superintendent should seek to unite all civic and religious organizations into one large unit for the purpose of giving the people the information they should have about their schools and their place in the life and progress of the county."

"The results of such a campaign should be a better and more wholesome school sentiment, better school support and improvement."

SONORA STUDENT HAD BEST ESSAY

Wins First Place in Kentucky for Firestone Essay—Bereah Is Second.

FRANKFORT, July 16.—First honor in the Firestone essay contest in Kentucky were won by Miss Virginia Bland of Sonora High School, according to announcement by the Department of University Extension of the University of Kentucky today. The went was received here by officials at the statehouse interested in the contest.

Second honors were won by Miss Beulah Roberts of Beattyville, a student in Berea College Academy, and third honors were won by Miss Bernice Gay Baker, also a student in Berea College Academy.

"It was an admirable contest," Gov. Fields said.

The University has awarded medals for first and second honors and the three best essays have been sent to the Highway Education Board, Washington, D. C., to be placed in competition for the Firestone Scholarship, the prize offered by Harvey S. Firestone, member of the Highway Education Board, for the best essay on the development of highway transportation.

The subject of the essay this year is the Relation of Improved Highways to Home Life. Competition takes place in all the high schools. Kentucky won first honors last year, the winner was Miss Dorothy Louise Roberts of Harlan High School. She is now enjoying the benefits of the prize which consists of all expenses paid at any college in the country for four years. The cash value is estimated at $1,000.

Find Jungle City

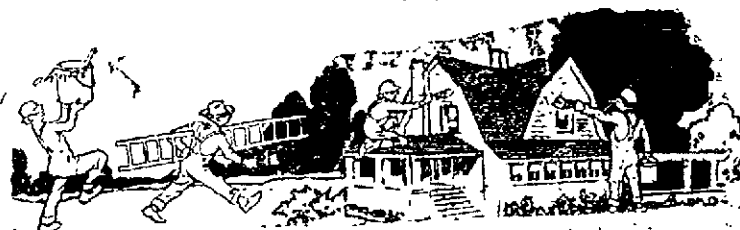

Associated Press.
LONDON, July 17.—The ruins of a great city of the first Mayan empire, 152 miles inland in the uninhabited jungle of British Honduras, have been discovered by an expedition of American and British explorers backed by a London syndicate. A massive pyramid 300 feet high was among the ruins.

BOOK COMPILED TO ADVERTISE TOWN

Kiwanis Committee Undertaking Civic Task—Route Signs Being Considered.

Report was made by Dr. J. P. Edwards and his committee on the status of the Middlesboro advertising book at the Kiwanis luncheon today. It was said that work of gathering data for the book which will be sent to automobile clubs, tourist centers, and other places to advertise the town is in progress. The committee expressed itself as eager to receive suggestions regarding the compiling of the information. The matter of size has not been decided yet.

A committee composed of T. R. Hill and Hugh Allen was named to work out the proposition of posting road signs around Middlesboro to direct tourists through the center of town instead of allowing them to see only a part of it.

Dr. Caldwell, of Iowa City, Ia., stated that in the 700 miles of driving to Middlesboro only seventy miles of bad roads were encountered. He predicted that within a comparatively short time the number of tourists daily would be several hundred.

Officers Find Clues in Mystery Murder

CINCINNATI, July 17.—A pair of shoes, a faded hat, a Christian Science book, and an insurance policy made out in the name of Mrs. Bertha D. Tyree of Chicago, found wrapped in a bundle on a road three miles south of Seaman, Ohio, reached here yesterday and police investigating the West Covington murder immediately started to connect the goods with the killing of the woman.

The goods were wrapped in a Springfield, Ohio, newspaper and were either lost or thrown from an automobile. The woman who was shot to death had on neither shoes nor hat. The policy of Mrs. Tyree gave her age as 36. The shoes and hat bore no marks which might be utilized in tracing the owner.

AMUSEMENTS

ANNA Q. NILSSON SEEN IN "PONJOLA"

"Handsome Blonde on the Screen" Stars in Film at Manning Tonight.

Anna Nilsson "The Handsome Blonde on the Screen."

Anna Q. Nilsson, who enacts the principal feminine role in "Ponjola," a First National picture at the Manning Theatre tonight, is often referred to in film circles by this title. And it is a deserving one.

Coming to America several years ago from her native home, Sweden, where she had enjoyed a brilliant career on the stage, she proved a sensation instantly in stage and screen circles in this country.

Her beauty, enhanced by a remarkable talent for acting, won for her immediate recognition, and during her few years of film life she has played in some of the screen's biggest productions.

Her screen career covers engagements with Metro, Famous Players, Goldwyn and First National.

Her more recent successes were in leading parts in First National's "The Isle of Lost Ships," in Cecil De Mille's "Adam Rib," and in Goldwyn's "The Spoilers."

In "Ponjola" Miss Nilsson has by far the most important role of her whole career. She plays the part of a young English noblewoman who cuts off her hair, dresses as a man, and as such lives for months among the hardened characters of the South African gold country.

Her leading man, in this absorbing play of African life, is James Kirkwood, with whom she has played in a dozen or more notable pictures.

RECREATION SURVEY

Section IV
PROPOSED ORGANIZATION
1. Recreation Board
The creation of a Recreation Board in accordance with the Recreation Law passed by the last General Assembly.

The city of Middlesboro has authority to appoint the present Board of Education, or a separate Recreation Board of five members. Should the decision be to appoint a separate and special Recreation Board, it is suggested that such Board be composed of one or more members of the School Board, that at least one member be a woman, and that the other members be people of influence and prominence, interested in the recreational life of the city. Experience has demonstrated the wisdom, in case a special Board is created, of appointing public spirited citizens rather than executives, whose primary interest is some organization or group.

2. Recreational Council
To support and give moral assistance to the Recreation Board, it is strongly recommended that a Recreation Council, or Advisory Committee, be formed, consisting of members from all the leading private organizations and groups, the total membership not to exceed thirty. This Council is to act in an advisory capacity, and give the legal Recreation Board the strong support of the combined power of the citizenship. It should be divided into standing subcommittees on the various phases of the program, viz.: Playgrounds, Community Athletics, Winter Sports, Community Music, Community Dramatics, Service Bureau, Play Institute, Holiday Celebrations, Community Centers, Publicity, Community Relations, etc.

3. Recreation Superintendent.
The organization and conducting of activities to be under the direction of a trained Superintendent of Recreation, to be appointed by the recreation Board, and to be responsible for the coordination and wise development of city-wide, year-round activities for all ages.
4. Aims and Objects.
The aims and objects of the Recreation Department which should enlist the solid support of the churches, industries, shops, civic bodies, schools, clubs and fraternal bodies, are:
A. To serve the city as a non-sectarian, non-commercial, non-political agency for the development of wholesome leisure time activities.
B. To promote and foster civic pride and patriotism by affording leisure time activities for all children and adults.
C. To assist in the promotion of recreational projects for community betterment in cooperation with other groups and organizations.
D. To stimulate community spirit, hospitality, neighborliness, and fellowship, through a wholesome use of leisure.

Winchester Athlete Dies of Auto Injury

Associated Press.
WINCHESTER, July 17.—James McCourt, 21, a recent graduate of Bingham University and Southern all-star quarter, died shortly before noon yesterday, of injuries suffered early Sunday morning when an automobile he was driving turned over on the Lexington road one mile from this city.

In company with Alfred Oldham, also from here, young McCourt was returning from Lexington and had stopped and given three negroes a ride in the machine. When the accident occurred McCourt and Oldham were pinned under the car and the three negroes were thrown out. Jerry Green, one of the blacks, died of injuries and Lay Tolliver, another, is in the hospital suffering from a broken back and is not expected to recover.

McCourt, a son of James A. McCourt, was a star athlete. Besides his parents, he leaves a brother, Charles McCourt, and a sister, Mrs. Anna Trimble.

The British Empire covers about one-fourth of the world's habitable land surface—13,406,103 square miles.

In the manufacturing districts of England nearly four tons of dust and soot fall from chimneys to the ground each day.

MOVIES BLAMED FOR CRIME WAVE

Claimed Tahitian Films Showing Crimes Has Had Effect On Patrons.

By Associated Press.

PAPEETE, Tahiti, July 17.—Motion picture films depicting violent deeds of handsome bandits, arousing great excitement among native audiences, are blamed for the mild outbreak of banditry that took place during May. Early in the month four natives, imprisoned for various offenses, took to the hills back of Papeete. They descended from time to time on raiding expeditions, chiefly against Chinese provision shops, unguarded clothes lines, pig pens and chicken runs. In the course of their plundering they obtained firearms, and ammunition, and after that their armed forays caused something of a panic among the householders of the island.

After many unavailing efforts to capture the bandits, the government organized parties of natives to search the mountains systematically. One of the parties found the four in a remote valley, but they were not subdued until one of the fugitives had been killed and another wounded.
